“ARTS AT THE CREEK” HUGE SUCCESS

Artists display their original works and demonstrate their talents.

When: May 26, 2007

Where: Hidden Creek Winery, Laceyville, PA

Susquehanna & Wyoming County, PA – On May 26, 2007, Hidden Creek Winery, Laceyville, PA, along with GEM 107.7 sponsored the first annual “Arts at the Creek” featuring local artisans and their works as well as free wine making classes. The event was a resounding success.

Featured local artists that displayed or demonstrated their craft included Rebecca & John Seifert of Inspiring Moments Photos & Stationary, Patricia Quick of Rose Garden Studio, Joan Johnson of Rough Cut Studio, Karen Black of K’s Art Studio, Jan Henning of Mountain Art Studio, Cecily Roe of Spinners’ Web Handspinning Guild & Tammy Hemmerly of Silvara Valley Farm, Jean Sly Miller – watercolor artist, Donna Hollister of Peaceful Valley Photography and Tammy & Don Stevens’ Framesmith.

Russ & Dan Leichliter, instructors of the free wine making classes, shared their knowledge and expertise to avid home wine making enthusiasts. David Carnright, class participant, told us, “I’ve been toying with the idea of making wine for awhile now and this class was just the thing to get me started. The information will help me a lot. I’m glad there’s something like this in the area and I look forward to next year’s event.”

“I can’t believe the support the community gave to our local artists and our business.” Ruth Leichliter, co-owner of Hidden Creek Winery, said, “I’m so very thankful not only to the artists that participated in the festival but to Gem 107.7 for their sponsorship and to the people who attended ‘Arts at the Creek.’ Without their support, this and future events would not be possible. I’m looking forward to our first annual pig roast and fireworks on July 14th. I know it will be a fun time for all.”

Hidden Creek Vineyard and Winery, owned and operated by Russ & Ruth Leichliter, features fruit wines made from local & Pennsylvania fruit juices and is an advocate of Pennsylvania’s Buy Local campaign.
